By Telegraph to The Times SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 13.-(By the Associated Press.) The Transm sippi Congress opened at a little after 10 o'clock this morning. Golden Gate Hall, where the congress convened, was elaborately decorated with bunt-ing and shields bearing the coats of arms of the different States represented. Large crowds filled the gal-

President McConnell called the con vention to order and in a brief dress stated the object of the gathering. He said it was not to be forgot-ten that the West was a part of the great Union and that the interests of the whole nation were much to be con-sidered, as well as those of the West. At a caucus of delegates held last evening Judge Niles Searles was chosen to make an address of welcome on behalf of the State. As President McConnell closed he introduced Judge Searles. At the close of Searles's address Mayor Ellert of San Francisco welcomed the delegates in behalf of the city. The following subjects for discussion are under consideration by the Com-mittee on Resolutions: San Diego harbor, free coinage of silver, insolvency favoring a uniform bankruptey bill, the Nicaragua Canal, favoring immediate completion of the canal, an ap-propriation for a suitable postoffice at San Francisco, the employment of a representative officer at a fair salary to act at Washington in the interest of

After the report of the Credentials Committee had been received it was agreed that delegations from each State should be allowed to name four members of each committee. In case the representation of any State did not permit of four delegates for each committee it was agreed that the committeemen named could cast four votes for the State. The roll returned by the Credentials Committee was then read and various committees an-

Another resolution by Delegate Lloyd de-mands the foreclosure of government mortgages on the Central and Union Pacific railroads, and favoring govern ment control of these properties. All resolutions were read and referred. At 11:30 o'clock the congress ad-lourned to 2 p.m. During the recess caucuses were held by the Northern California, Colorado and Southern Cali-fornia delegations. There is not likely to be a contest over the election of the president, Gov. McConnell not seeking retention, but would probably be willing to serve another term if the honor were unani-mously tendered him by the congress. mously tendered min by the Congress.

There is likely to be a lively competition for the permanent secretary-ship. President McConnell's suggestion this morning that the salaxy be made something like $4000 or $5000 a year, if something like $4000 or $6000 a year, a acted upon favorably, is likely to raise a swarm of candidates, and the plum will not be allowed to fall to any one without a lively scramble, but the leaders in the congress are disposed to be exacting in their requirements as to the qualifications necessary for the place and exceptional and varied abil-ity is needed to discharge the duties of the position creditably.

On assembling this afternoon the congress received and adopted the report of the Committee on Credentials.

The committees on order of business, solutions and other matters were appointed and the congress awaited their reports.

At the evening session it was agreed on the motion of the chairman of the Committee on Resolutions that no res matter of policy would be received after noon tomorrow, except on the consent of a majority of the members. The congress listened to an address by Capt. W. T. Merry of San Francisco on the subject of the "Nicaragua Canal." His speech was based upon resolutions recently agreed to by the California delegation, and to be presented to the convention tomorrow morning. The resolution is in the form of a memorial to Congress, asking prompt construction of the canal by the United States government, with provisions for sane with a few moments' warning they are possibly mown in these workings waiting for help. The distance to this old gangway from the foot of the shaft is about nine hundred feet, through closed-up passages, which must be reopened and retimbered before they can be retraversed.

His Scalp Torn from His Head, With Other Injuries.

The Electric Lights Went Out-Those Present Panic-stricken-Col. Boone's Vallant Conduct-Fortythree Wounds.

Boone's lions, which perform daily at the Midwinter Fair, are so thoroughly "circus" that they could not hurt anyone, even should they so desire; but those who attended this evening's performance have reason to was frightfully mangled by the fero-

Boone for about five years, "dresses" the beasts for each performance, cleans the cages and helps about the arena generally. Last evening just before the final performance was to begin Thleman entered the cage as usual and was engaged in cleaning it, when suddenly the incandescent lights went out and left him in total darkness. Instantly "Parnell." one of the largest lons, gave vent to a terrible roar and dashed on the unfortunate keeper.

Thieman tried to reach the door, but he had scarcely taken three steps before the monster was upon him, and with a blow of its huge paw, felled the keeper to the floor. Thieman screamed for help piteously, when the lion seized him and began to mangle him. lions, "Commodore" and "Romeo," pounced upon him, too, and joined their mate in the cruel and bloody work. By this time everything was in confusion and excitement about the place. Col. Boone, the tamer, was the only cool-headed person in the place. Securing a lantern and a crowbar, he rushed for the door of the cage. Considerable difficulty was experienced in getting the door open, as it is a cumbersome affair, and, to make matters worse, Thleman had locked it after him. It was finally broken open, however, and Boone rushed in.

Poor Thieman's cries had ceased. By the light of his lantern Boone saw his keeper bleeding and unconscious in the claws and teeth of three now thoroughly wild brutes. Upon seeing Boone the lions dragged tueir victim to the further end of the cage, and, while they ceased mangling him, they glowered and groweled at the master menacingly. But Boone never wavered. Placing his lantern on the floor he attacked the brutes victously with his crowbar and beat them off Thieman's body. The colonel them dragged the poor fellow out of the cage and ready hands conveyed him to the patrol wagon, in which he was driven rapidly to the receiving hospital.

Finally the lanterns were brought and there in the cage lay Thieman with three lions clawing and munching his prostrate form. Col. It was an exhibition of bravery seldom seen, and the big crowd cheered the gallant colonel. Thieman was taken to the Receiving Hospital where his wounds, forty-three in number, were examined.

By one blow from a lion's paw he had been scalped from the forehead to the nape of his neck. Under each arm were terrible bites where the lions had attempted to reach a vital spot. His petition for commutation is now before the President. Neither can he accept employment from the city of New York until retired, the War Department holding that if he accepted another office while under suspension he would lose his army place.

The receipts of internal fevenue for the first ten days of the present month were $5,079,211. as against $4,514,804 for the correspond-ing period of last year. Treasury officials regard this as a sure sign of returning business activity and its sig-nificance is increased by the fact that since the beginning of the fiscal year till now the internal revenue has con-stantly decreased.

"The Last Time It Snowed" in Tucson.

ded Merriment Over the Fall of "the Beauthut"-That Last Indian War. Personals.

Special Correspondence of The Times TUCSON, Feb. 10.-Today will long be remembered in Tucson as "the last time it snowed." Tonight the effect is strange and beautiful, all being mantled in white. The present is the first snow handled and, in many cases, seep by the youngsters of Tucson. Snow-balling was heartily indu'ged in tonight the old laying aside their years and dignity and joining every boy in town in firing snowballs. Soon not a Chinese could be seen on the streets. They were the personification of pa-tience in their endurance of the keen pelting from the young generation. Half the snowfall was utilized for balls. The merriment was unbounded

A tramp who was about to shoot a conductor at Lordsburg this week was man of the crew, named Diehl. It was the day the party of Southern Pacific officials passed through. Word comes that General Manager Towne furnished omerais passed through, word comes that General Manager Towns furnished young Diehl's ball. The Southern Pa-cific attorney defended Diehl at the ex-amination and will doubtless clear him at the trial.

Another tramp story comes from Bowie. The tramps had captured the town, so they telegraphed. A deputy sheriff went to the scene, but to date has not been heard from.

THE_LATE "INDIAN WAR." "Another Indian War in Arizona," "Settlers Attacked—Settlement Plundered." "The Bloody Apaches Again Scalping Settlers." These and such as these are the headlines just now to be seen in newspapers remote from the Territory and bent on a sensation. What are the facts? A single Indian outlaw, "Kid," attempted to shoot a miner that was found alone. It turns out that no one was hurt and the "Kid" and companion outlaws are now doubtless far in Sonora in the mountain fastnesses of the Sierras. To read the headline descriptions of the case by outside papers and some inside papers one would imagine the Indian population of Arizona in arms and the whites about to be annihilated. About two good scouts and practiced findian hunters of the Territory, should put themesives on the "Kid's" trail and stay there till they get him. There is a $500 reward for him, dead or alive.

The discovery was made three weeks ago the Mexican herder, who decided to make no report of it for the reason that he was busy and didn't want to be bethered with attending a coroner's inquest. He told a Mexican woodchopper, who in turn told Lambaye. The body is said to be that of a white man and at the time of discovery was fully dressed.

WEAK POINTS OF OUR PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM.

The discussion which is being carried on in the columns of The Times by correspondents in regard to the manner in which the High School is being conducted naturally leads up to a consideration of the broader question as to the methods of tuition which prevail in the schools of this country. We are apt to take it for granted that there is any single feature in the If there is any single feature in the United States which is perfect, or nearly perfect, and could not be improved upon, it is the system of free education in our public schools. The average patriotic American would scornfully resent the suggestion that cornfully resent the suggestion that there is any room for improvement in the American system of tuition, and would laugh at the idea that we could ossibly get any valuable points on subject from any other country. Yet there are not a few intelligent, unprejudiced and patriotic Americans who believe that the methods of teaching the young idea to shoot which prevail in this country are not altogether so far above criticism as is generally supposed—in fact that it would be quite possible to make a few very de-cided changes for the better. It is a fact that there are quite a large number of people in our cities who send their children to private schools, and this not merely because they want to be more exclusive or fashionable than their neighbors, for we know of instances where people have actually denied themselves comforts in order pay for the expense of tuition at such wivate institutions, the reason given being that the children did not make satisfactory or reasonable progress with their studies at the public schools. While the free public-school system is essentially admirable and correct; it is a system which patriotic Americans justly regard as the corner-stone of this great republic; while they jealously resent any attempt to belittle its influence or interfere with its remove them as far as possible. Among the drawbacks of our public school system is the bunching together of children of all grades of mental dewelopment and disposition in such manner that it is impossible for the teacher to study and adapt her or his methods to the mental and moral peuliarities of each. In fact, owing to which our schools are conducted-the large amount of work imposed upon each teacher during school hours—it would be impossible to do this even if the teacher had the in clination. There are teachers who take a particular pride in their profession, and will do even more than is required of them to insure the progress of their pupils, but it can scarcely be expected that the average teacher that a large number of the teachers our public cshools were not des-They drifted into it, or having some friend with a "pull" in that direction, studied sufficiently to pass the neces-sary examination. ignoring them. On the contrary, however assured we may be that the sysular features of the public school system that we desire to refer in the of this section. It is difficult, however ent article, but to another fault which is gradually creeping in with "modern improvements" which have so entirely transformed the little log schoolhouse of our childhood days. We refer to the fact that so many new branches of study have been introduced of late that much of the pupils' time frittered away, so that by the time they graduate from the High School they know a little about a great many things and not much about anything ng, and drawing, and physicultur and astronomy, and geology, and botany and foreign languages are all very well in their way, but they should not be allowed to interfere with the acguirement of a thorough knowledge of the rudiments of the English lanruage and simple mathematics. The "three R's"—Readin', 'Ritin and 'Rithmetic-should at all times be kept within gunshot, if not within full view. It is not the purpose of the public schools of the United States to make schools of the United States to make singers, or artists, or astronomers, dancing-masters or doctors, but to fur-nish each child with a basis of solid knowledge upon which he or she may subsequently build a fabric in accordequently build a fabric in accord-with the intelligence and perse-destitute men.

this pithy French aphorism.

the great struggle for existence, which all except a few of the more favored will be called upon to wage. More than this we cannot expect to do-more than this it is not just to ask the taxpayers to do. The main knowledge of a boy or girl is acquired after they leave school. At school we give them the key and show them the door of a closet in which are stored fruits which man has plucked from the tree of knowledge. If they have any inclination they will open the door, eat of the fruit and profit by it. If they have not, no amount of "school larnin" "will do them any good. The duty of the State ends when it teaches the children of its citizens to read, write and figure, to speak and write grammatical English, and the rudiments of geography and history, particularly the gl rious history of their own native land, to silently remind them of that pa triotism which every true American imbibes with his mother's milk and of which should at least have a comprehension before he is admitted to the privileger

If it were the case that pupils who have progressed as far as the High School were thoroughly educated or the subjects referred to it would be excusable to devote a certain portion of the school hours to these other outside branches. This, however, is, as we all know, far from being the case. How common it is to hear a young man or woman, who has graduated from a high school, and who is familiar with several languages and all the 'ologies. using such ungrammatical English should be considered shameful on the part of a ten-year-old native child who had enjoyed the educational privileges which are afforded by the private schools of this country and Europe? These remarks are commended to the careful consideration of those who are interested in the education of the rising generation in this country. We be lieve they express, in a measure, the views of many thoughtful and observing people.

WHAT A CONTRAST.

A few days ago we had a little touch harmonious workings, it must be admitted that there are certain draw-backs which are inseparable from this what we call a storm here in Southern California. A few piles were broken from a wharf on the coast and a vessel was driven ashore. Here, in the city not a single building was unroofed or tem itself is a good one, we should seek to find out its weak points and otherwise damaged. What a difference is this to the tremendous storm which swept over the entire continent on Monday! This appears to have be one of the severest and most wide spread storms that have been recorded this country. From Nebraska New Jersey and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico come reports of bliz-zards, hurricanes and cyclones; of snow drifting as high as the roofs of houses of interrupted railroad communication, of inundated streets and of people frozen to death. It will take months to disclose the full story of the terrible work which has been done by this storm. When the snow melts from the plains it is expected that hundreds of bodies of settlers will be found. What can be imagined more terrible than the story which comes from Oklahoma of a settler who cut regulations which are laid down for the throats of himself and his five his or her guidance. At the meeting of the Council on Monday in regard to the communication from the Merchants' Association, asking the Council to define its position in the matter of the removal of the so-called merchants' license, the Finance Committee reported recommending that the merchants be requested to continue to pay the tax until the next annua levy. As a basis for this request it was stated that there have been unusual demands upon the City Treasury for

A HUMOROUS FEMALE ANANIAS.

Cynthia Holmes Belcher is the latest critic to jump over the frames of Los Angeles people and generally pick the city all to pieces. This lady writes to her "home paper" in Illinois that she has been about a year in Los Angeles, that the longer she stays the less she likes it and that she may soon con clude to return to Illinois. Such a conclusion would certainly be very sen-sible on her part, if only one-half of the complaints which the lady make were well-founded. Just listen to her! In other words (Hear! Hear!) The people of Los Angeles are after the al-mighty dollar "regardless of uprightness;" we make our living out of sick cause the climate is much over-rated: we dare not leave a window open at night for it is "sure death to breathe the miasmatic, foggy air:" in December the temperature varies from 30 deg, at night to 102 deg, at noon; an assembly it is one chorus of coughing; for one dirty room we charge from $12 to $25 per week; sick people are hustled out to the undertaking parlors which are in every other block. Of course Mrs. Belcher finds that property is much too high here. This kind of people always find that out, espechally those who never had any inten-tion of buying or anything to buy with. She says the editor of a Los Angeles told her that "one-fourth of the people here could not read English, and one-half did not read anything." (Name! name!) She says this may be accounted for by the large mixture of spanish blood in our population. Mrs of those who were born in this coun-Belcher is, however, kind enough to admit that she noticed many people patronizing the public library.

Any comment upon such a letter as this is, of course, superflous. Letters of this description are much less common in the Eastern papers than they were a few years ago, and when a Southern California editor comes across one it is something in the nature of a relaxation for him to read it. In fact such letters as these are funny to those who know the true circircumstances of the case.

The Governor of Arkansas makes and roves a serious accusation against the ndian Territory, that under its present overnment it is the recruiting and organizing place for bands of train-robbers, whose depredations are often reported in the Southwest. Maps of the ocalities adjacent to the Indian Territory have been captured, showing the route by which the robbers traveled, both in going to the lines of railroad and returning. On these maps were time-tables showing when valuable trains were due at points favorable for waylaying. It will be the duty of Congress to take action on this com-plaint. To make Indian Territory's rendezvous for criminals is demoral izing alike to the Indians and to all the whites in the Territory, and the criminal classes should be cleaned out for the protection of the mass of citizens.

We have received a copy of a pape prepared by Capt. Edward Corning, for the annual meeting of the Minnesota Society of Sons of the Revolution. The principles inculcated in this paper may be gauged by the following paragraph referring to the remedles for the present referring to the remedies for the present corruption in our political life:

"Then there is the instruction of the rising generation, by precept and by example, in the duty of honesty, in purpose and in act, in both private and public life; of the dignity of, and necessity for, labor; of the danger of selinshness, haste to be rich, extravagance, idleness and luxury."

There is surely much room for the work of such an organization in the United States today.

'I am very sorry to know that you am very sorry to know that you have brought to a close the discussion in your valuable paper of the variance between the Roman Catholic church and the principles and institutions of the republic in which we live, as I had a desire to take part in the debate."

The writer proceeds at length, and makes the oblique suggestion that the debate be reopened. The suggestion is declined with thanks. Several other correspondents, on both sides of the mestion, have written expressing their atisfaction with the way in which the discussion was handled, and their deep interest in the politico-religious debate Selah!-not to say amen!

The latest statistics regarding pig ron show that there was a falling off in the product last year of more than ear before. In 1890 the output mounted to 9,202,703 tons, in 1891 to 279,810 tons, in 1892 to 9,157,000 tons and last year it was but 7,124,502 tons. LETTERS TO THE TIMES. "Let Us Reason Together." LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(To the Ed-

They, the complainants, evidently look upon the High School as a sort of preparatory school for those intending to take a higher education. Is this, let me ask, the purpose of the Board of Education in providing the youth of the city with a high school? On the con-trary is it not assumed that the school trary is it not assumed that the school is for the populace, who expect their children to be educated when they receive their High School diplomas? If the High School pupils are finishing their education should they not be allowed some social commingling of the nature of the dance condemned by one correspondent? As for the children being unchaperoned, who is more to blame for that than the absent parents? Finally, is it not true their parents who intend to send their children on to Stanford or Berkeley, or an Eastern college, would do better by them if they put them for a year in one of the many excellent schools in the vicinity that give especial attention to this works some of which—like Miss Marsh's well-known school for girls—are incorporated under the laws of the State, and prepare pupils for these colleges, which admit them on their diplomas? When the road is completed these will be received as cash for half the price of tickets, freight and other charges. Income construction bonds are also to be issued by the company in sums of $5, $10 and $20. These bear 5 per cent. Interest and are to be paid out of the income of the road. They will be received for all dues, with a premium of 5 per cent. added. Cities, counties and townships will be asked to vote bonds to aid in the construction of the road. A "Sarkastic Cuss." LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13.—(To the Editor of The Times.) "Anxious Pa-rent" should have lived in Puritanic days. His conceptions of school-life seem the results of a mind moulded among the influences of those people that upheld the "blue laws." His mind that upheld the "blue laws." His mind cannot grasp the more humane ideas of our advanced time, but instead shrivels beneath a cast-iron brain canopy. He does not realize that all over this country the end of a school term is everywhere appropriately and desirably commemorated by entertaining exercises and that everyone enjoys greater freedom. For should school-life from childhood to manhood be but an incessant grind—a continual drudgery? School-time is much longer than in past years. Now after all this wearisome toil shall a little school entertainment, fun or what you will, be inadmissible? Perhaps if "Anxious Parent" had his way he would have an ebon veil covering the High School building and streamers of sable crape adorning the extended walls of the interior. So much for harmless school amusement.

adorning the extended walls of the interior. So much for harmless school amusement.

It is wildly exhilarating to note the statement of one parent "that our children are wasting one-fourth of their time" for the lack of a greater number of studies than four, while another fond papa reveals the startling fact that some are not able to cope with more than three studies. So much for the number of studies. As to the High School curriculum the visiting University professors praised its admirable efficiency, but of course there are some people that know it all, especially "disgusted parents;" and not satisfied with this try to make others know it all, too, Ignorance makes some people bold. A glance at this picture is enough to prepare the reader for something about sleeves. They are as big as ever and, indeed, the only thing which can be interpreted to be a prophecy of returning smaller ones is an occasional example like the one pictured, where the sleeves are so enormous as to destroy the gracefulness of the costume. This was an elaborate and handsome bodice made of mouse-gray velsome. tume. This was an elaborate and handsome bodice made of mouse-gray velvet and finished with a corseite girdle of gulpure lace. From one side hung a knot of black satin. The dress skirt and the sleeves were apricot slik, with a band of fur bordering the bottom of the former. All this was elegance itself, but the artist has caught nicely the stiffness in the pose of the arms, a sort of hang-from-a-hinge effect, which was ruinous to grace and was due to the sleeves being so big as to hinder the arm's movements. It will not take many of these tremendously big things to make women realize that a return to smaller sleeves would be wise, and once begun these monstrosities will disappear altogether.

To tell the whole story and the different versions of it would require considerable time and space, so diversified are the reports and rumors circulated and told bearing

Victor and Francisco Maldonado, the two Indian boys convicted of having two Indian boys convicted of having maliciously placed obstructions on the tracke of the Terminal Railway in October of last year, in Garvanza, were yesterday sentenced to five years' imprisonment in San Quentin. The judgment of the court was a heavy one, more so than even the prosecution had dared to hope it would be. At the time the offense was committed the two were partially intoxicated. They had boarded a train and ridden out as far as Garvanza, where the conductor put them off, as they did not have money enough to pay their fares. Out of a spirit of malice, and for revenge, it appeared, they then proceeded to pile a number of heavy rocks upon the rails, which were discovered by a passer-by before the next passenger train came along, and removed. The plea of intoxication, as indicating irresponsibility, was urged by the defense, but the jury brought in a verdict of guilty, in pursuance of which Judge Smith yesterday passed the sentence mentioned, Before he had done so, however, Attorney Appel made motions for arrest of judgment and a new trial upon the usual grounds afforded in such cases, but these were promptly overruled, the exception being noted.

GRAND JUROR STEIN.

A Chance for a Technical Objection in Case There was considerable talk about the City Hall yesterday over the fact that F. W. Stein, of the Board of Education, had qualified as a member of the grand had qualified as a member of the grand jury. When Stein's name first appeared in connection with the grand jury, it was believed that he would have the delicacy to ask to be excused, as it has been understood generally that the affairs of the school board are to come in for a searching investigation; but Mr. Stein appears to think that there is nothing out of the way in remaining on that body.

It has been ascertained that there is no legal objection to Stein remaining on the grand jury, though of course he can take no part in the investigation of school board matters. Besides this, however, there is a possibility that, should an indictment be returned against any member or members of the school board, an attorney for the ellent or clients will be very likely to raise senor board, an attempt of the character or clients will be very likely to raise the point that the jury is not legally qualified to pass upon any such indictment, because one of the members of the body thus passing is also a member of the body the official acts of which are being passed upon.

Senator Tirey L. Ford of Downleville delivered a very eloquent address Monday evening at the Whittier State School, his subject being "Abraham Lincoln." It has been the steady rule in this school to celebrate Lincoln's birthday and this makes the third celebration of that nature that has occurred in the history of the school. The celebration has each year consisted of suitable music and recitations by the pupils and an oration by some visitor, and this year Senator Ford came from Downleville by invitation to deliver the address.

President Mullen presided at the exercises and made a very happy introductory speech. Dr. Cochran of the Board of Trustees was also present and said a few words.

effects the highest credit on the local department, for the reason that the whole matter was worked up at this end of the line and full information forwarded to the San Francisco authorities, on which the capture was made. The crime for which Richards is now serving a term in State's Prison, and for which Brooks will be tried, was one of the most aggravated cases of robbery in the criminal history of the county. On the night of September 21, 1893, between 9 and 10 o'clock, while John M. Hamer, who runs a grocery store at the corner of Main and Fifteenth streets, was sitting in his office chatting with a couple of friends, the party was startled by the appearance at the door of two masked men, one tall and the other short, who, at the point of four revolvers, commanded Hamer and his friends to throw up their hands, which they promptly did. One of the men then reached over and took possession of the till, containing some $50 or $60. In the meantime Mrs. Hamer, who had gone to another part of the store, returned to the office and realizing what was going on, rushed out the rear, screaming at the top of her voice. Across the street was a party of boys and as Officer Lennor strolled up toward the corner they told him that the store was being robbed. Lennon crossed the street but before he reached the curb the two men came out the front door and at once opened fire on the policeman. Lennon drew his revolver and advancing returned the fire, the fusillade continuing until the officer was disabled by a serious wound in the thigh, when the robbers made off. going down Fifteenth street about 150 feet, where they had a horse and phaeton hitched in the shade of a pepper tree. Into the vehicle they bundled and dashed off down the street. Lennon was removed to the Receiving Hospital for treatment and the search for the bold robers was commenced. The horse and phaeton, which had been stolen for the occasion, was found the following day, but no trace of the robbers could be found. Finally, however, Richards and Brooks were loca

After careful discussion it was recommended to the Labor Commission that 175 men and twenty-five men with teams be employed, making a total of 200 men altogether.

The apportionment of men recommended was as follows: First Ward, 15; Second Ward, 45; Third Ward, 16; Fourth Ward, 16; Fith Ward, 5; Sixth Ward, 8; Seventh Ward, 45; Sixth Ward, 45; Ninth Ward, 17.

Councilman Gaffey, the Eighth Ward committeeman, came in late in the meeting, and, after the situation had been explained to him, said it would be almost impossible for him to find time to investigate so as to intelligently recommend forty-five of the most deserving men in his ward out of the two hundred or so that had been recommended for employment. He suggested that the policemen on duty in his ward be asked to investigate and report the most worthy cases.

Some one suggested that the Chief of Police be called in, but on telephoning for him he was found not to be in his office.

Why Mrs. Gratiot Could Not Get a Marriage

After getting a divorce from her hus-band yesterday on the grounds of adul-tery, Mrs. Gratiot, a sixteen-year-old girl wanted to marry A. C. Dilly, but by reason of obstructions placed in the way by the law, she was unable to enter into the matrimonial state again on such short notice. Deputy Clerk Sam Kutz, when applied to for the marriage license by Dilly, refused to issue the permit unless the young woman had the written consent of her parents, notwithstanding the fact that she had been wedded before. This could not be procured on the spur of the moment, so the couple were obliged to postpone their wedding until mamma should say "yes."

Charged With Attempting to Blackmall Chinese Doctor Out of $200-The Story of the De-

Ross and a jury in the United States District Court yesterday, to answer to the charge of having, on September 22 last, conspired together and falsely rep-resented themselves to be government officers, for the purpose of blackmailing a Chinese doctor named Lee Dye, out of $200.

a Chinese doctor named Lee Dye, out of $200.

Dist.-Atty. Ennis appeared on behalf of the government to prosecute the case, while the defendants were represented by Henry T. Gage, Esq.

The jury selected to try the case were: John Bloeser, Charles C. Bonnell, Levi R. Darby, Charles R. Davidson, Charles A. Leighton, John H. Schumacher, Sherman Smith, John R. Smurr, Peter Stone, Will B. Stewart, Charles E. White and George W. Wolfe.

Only four witnesses were examined for the prosecution, viz., George E. Gard, Mrs. Lee Dye, Albert P. Ford and E. H. Owen, but their testmony was of a nature calculated to place the defendants in a very unenvfable situation. It was to the effect that they represented themselves to be deputies under Collector Wise of San Francisco, and, after threatening Lee Dye with arrest for having smuggled opium in his possession, proposed that he put up $200 hush money.

The defendants, however, on the other hand, emphatically denied this story claimed that they merely called upon Mrs. Lee Dye to induce her to subscribe to the Telegram. As an inducement for her to do so, they told her that they had correspondents in various places, and particularly in San Francisco, who were 'on the inside," and would furnish a budget of Chinese news every week, and a letter from a deputy named Stevens was shown her as proof of the truth of this statement. During the course of their interview the woman told them that she was afraid that the highbinders would do her husband up, and, in their anxiety to get a story for their paper, they made three visits to her house. The fact that she, a white woman, was the wwife of a Chinese, also furnished them with the groundwork for a good story, and they were anxious to investigate the matter. In short, they endeavored to show that they and not Lee Dye and his wife, were the victims of a conspiracy.

Evidence of the previous good character of the defendant, Hargitt, was given by J. M. Griffith, J. G. Estuddillo, A. J. McNally, C. Hansen, G. S. Foster, W. B. Robb, Dr. J. Kurtz

The Salvation Army In Chicago, through its head local representative, W. W. Winchell, has summoned Col. Robert G. Ingersoil, the "Prince of Paganism," to appear before it as a court and show cause why he is not a Christian. The proposed trial will be carried on exactly as if conducted before a duly authorized court. Strict discipline and dignity will be maintained. A judge and a jury will be selected. The plaintiff and the defendant will be represented by counsel.

The summons for Col. Ingersoil is in part as follows:

"You are commanded to appear at the courtroom, Princess rink, No. 558

"You are commanded to appear at the courtroom, Princess rink, No. 558 West Madison street, the 8th day of February, 1894, at 8 o'clock p.m., then and there to testify the truth in a matter in suit wherein the Salvation Army is plaintiff and Satan, alias "The Serrent," alias "The Devil," alias "Angel of Light," alias "Science So-called," is defendant, and that you then and there bring with you and produce at the time and place aforesald, to be used as evidence, the Bible which you blasphemed and the manuscript of the lectures with which you upheld the defendant; and this you are not to omit under penalty of the law of conscience."

About the Color of Flames-(St. Louis Republic:) You have often noticed the many tinted bars and bands that rise in the shape of "forked tongues of flame" from wood burning, but ten chances to one you never thought to figure on the cause. To thought to ngure on the cause. To bring the matter quickly to the point, it may be said that the many colors are the result of combustion among the different elements of the wood. The light blue is from the hydrogen, and the white from carbon; the violet is from manganese, the red from magne-sia and the yellow from soda.

time during the continuance of the fair. A TAM O'SHANTER SORT OF RIDE. Master George Green, son of Col. and Mrs. G. G. Green, had a ride, Sunday, the excitement of which would have put Tam O'Shanter to the blush. The young man, althought not yet entered upon his 'teens, is an expert horseman, and is never so happy as when mov.ng along at a rattling good pace on the back of a spirited animal. On the morning named a pony that has won several races at the Tournament of Roses, and which is conceded to be one of the fastest animals in this vicinity, was taken to Col. Green's home at Altadena for a trial trip. Master George mounted the animal without fear, and started off toward Pasadena. Before he knew it, the pony got beyond his control and passed Col. Green and family, who were riding in their trap a short distance down the road, on a full run. Master George shouted as he passed: "He's off," a fact which was forcibly impressed upon the family as they watched the animal jump an eight-foot ditch and tear across several fields at the top of his speed. Then the horse stumbled in some deep mud and his rider was thrown off, sustaining some bruises, but fortunately without having any bones broken. TAM O'SHANTER SORT OF RIDE.

THE EDDY RECITAL.

The music-lovers of Pasadena were highly entertained Monday evening with the organ recital given by Clarence Eddy of Chicago, whose reputation as one of the leading organists in the country is astablished. During his tours throughout every State in the Union, he has been enthusiastically received and listened to with pleasure, and Pasadena people congratulate themselves on the opportunity of hearing him. The recital was held in the Congregational Church, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with smilax and roses by the ladies of the church. From a programme which was so entirely enjoyable and beyond criticism, it is difficult to mention special selections for praise, but possibly those numbers which most greatly were appreciated by the audience, were "Shepherd's Farewell to Holy Family." by Beriloz, and Guillmant's "Nuptial March." These were loudly encored, and Mr. Eddy responded with short additions to the already generous programme. An especially interesting number was an original transcription from Wagner's "Tannhauser," in which Mr. Eddy showed masterly execution, a fine appreciation of the great composer's fantastic and weird music, and his own exceptional power and technical ability. In "A Royal Procession," which was dedicated to Mr. Eddy by the composer, Walter Spinney, the fine tones of the organ were heard to the best advantage, and the last number on the programme before the finale, the inspired prayer from Weber's opera, "Der Freischutz," was most enthusiastically received. Mr. Eddy was assisted by O. W. Kyle and Mrs. Clapp, each contributing a solo and joining in a duet, all of which were encored. Mr. Kyle and Mrs. Clapp did not respond to their encores beyond courteous recognition.

lost townsman, L. C. Winston, were rife on the streets yesteriday and today. They probably all sprang from the reported inding of a man crazed with thirst on the desert in the northern part of San Diego county about a month ago. They have not yet been able to locate the man, but are in correspondence with people in San Diego county for this purpose. He came to the Times branch office Monday morning for amorning paper to see how the weather clerk was treating his friends back beyond the Rockies. As he stood out on the street basking in the warm sunshine while he read about the thermometer over in Iowa going down to 20 and 30 deg. below zero, he unconsciously shrugged his shoulders, and, turning up his coat-collar, put off down the street to tell Mrs. Bangs about it.

The Orange-growers Standing Solidiy Together - Brevities.

It can be safely predicted that the Orange-growers' Union of this valley is a success, and if other sections will hold on as well as this, the growers will need no longer fear that they cannot stick together. It is not believed by anyone here that there will be any further rupture, and most growers are sangaine in the hope that good prices will be received for their fruit, although it was not expected that any great things would be accomplished the first season. Growers here deny that any fruit has been shipped on commission, and assert that one or two large firms in other cities are doing all they can to injure and break up the union. Competent judges state that this season's crop will average the growers il per box, and even better prices in many cases. The fruit is going out reasonably well, and the demand for orange land, though not up to some former years, is nevertheless much better than was expected, and the demand is constantly increasing. The land brings fully as good prices, though the seiters in most cases have to put up with less "cash down" and wait for longer time on the balance.

He was given twenty days in the County Jail.

There are not so many tramps in Pomona at present as there was a few weeks ago, but what is lacking in quantity is made up in quaity, and a very rough quality at that. The officers arrested one a few days ago and his weapon was an ugly-looking, leather-covered piece of metal. A chunk of lead was in one end, and a ounch of corset steels made the handle, which was a very supple one, and the Instrument would knock a man cold in a second. As the fellow had hit no one, he could only be given a short term in jail.

Another Intemperate Speech on the Liquo Traffic by J. M. Glass-Politics Beginning to Bubble

At the Union Temperance conference Monday afternoon the paper by Mrs. Mary B. Godcell was followed by one by Rev. C. A. Westenberg on "Prostitution" in the series on "Short-cuts to the Destruction of Immorality in Our Midst." Mr. Westenberg has been giving much attention to the question of cocial purity in this city, and has been able to glean many facts respecting prostitution, which many facts respecting prostitution, which he uses with telling effect in his ad-

W. Lucas, and-a twenty-minutes song service, conducted by Hugh E. Smith of Los Angeles. Mr. Glass is, as all know, an uncompremising Prohibitionist, and never neglects an opportunity to get in some strong partisan political shots. Although the meeting was a temperance gathering, Mr. Glass made in his address about as strong a political harrangue as it is possible to make. In fact, he took such ultra ground that most Prohibitionists could not indorse all ne said. He demounced the liquor interests, which, according to his statement, would include about everything of value in the country, as he held that the salcon had complete control of everything, including wealth, politics, press and pulpit. The liquor traffic and money have controlled things since '62, and for twenty years Washington has been the seat of corruption. He advanced the same six remedies he has given in other addresses, and did not forget the statement he is making in his speeches, to the effect that the last Legislature gave the Riverside people a new county in consideration of a sum of $10.09.

people a new county in consideration of a sum of $10,099. Judge A. D. Boren, one of the leading Prohibitionists of San Bernardino, of-fered resolutions condemning the liquor traffic, prostitution and the present meth-ods used in treating these evils, and they were adopted by the meeting.

REDLANDS.

Politics are being stirred up in this city in view of the approaching spring election. Four of the five members composing the Board of City Trustees are to be elected this year. It is thought that none of the incumbents will be candidates for re-election. This makes it possible to elect a board that will pursue an entirely different course from that followed heretofore. Upon one proposition the lines will be closely drawn—that between high liquor license and prohibition. The present board consists of three high-license and two prohibition members. The advocates of high license and prohibition are pretty evenly divided in the city, the present—indications pointing to a small majority in favor of prohibition. REDLANDS.

Another question which will play some part in the selection of the new board will be that of continuing the policy of extensive outlays in the matter of permanent public improvements. There will be a considerable element in favor of retrenchment in the matter of expenditures, though the greater number are strong supporters of the policy pursued by the present board. The pot is beginning to simmer.

When Mr. Kellogg found himself unable to mount guard any longer he instructed his men never to make the night trip home with money on their persons, but to leave the cash collected during the day at the bank or a store. For this reason, when a driver was forced at 4 o'clock Sunday morning by a highwayman to rein up, dismount, throw up his hands and allow himself to be scarched at the point of a revolver, nothing more valuable than a plug of tobacco was found, and that of inferior quality. AN AMUSING CIVIL CASE.

A young man named Hillyer, finding his numerous creditors becoming restive, called on his friend, Harold Spence, to borrow the sum of $70, giving as security a bill of sale for a ton of hay, a spring-wagon, a mule and two horses. He had previously received a loan of $150 from the same gentleman, without giving security or repaying the money. The hay wagon and mule Mr. Hillyer obtained possession of, sold, pocketed the proceeds and disappeared for a time in Santa-Ynez. A month ago he returned to this city, and with a man named Taunton endeavored to obtain possession of the two horses, which alone remained as security for the $50 he had borrowed ten months since. Obtaining the services of Constable Kelton, he went to the pasture in which the horses were kept and demanded their fecture. Not being able to find them on this occasion, he waited a day, repaired to the pasture with his henchman Taunton, caught one of the horses, brought it into town and sold it to a man going by stage to Lompoc. Hillyer then, at the instigation of Taunton, took out a summons against Harold Spence for unlawful detention, claiming damages. It was pointed out to the plaintiff in this action. Hillyer vs. Spence, that his own performances in this and other matters had not been strictly legitimate, wherefore, on second thought, he endeavored to prevent the case coming to trial. Unable to raise the costs required, he found himself obliged to proceed with the case, which came up before Justice Crane yesterday afternoon. Hillyer, in addition to Taunton, subpoenaed four or five witnesses to testify in his behalf, their evidence, however, proving more damaging to the case and his reputation than that of adverse witnesses could have been. The judge decided that Harold Spence had every right to the animal while he held the bill of sale, until the money for which this was security was paid.
